- Comments from students:
 - White bread for cheeseburgers. Why would someone eating cheese burgers be health conscious? Also, bring the beans back to the wok. What are vegans supposed to eat?
 - The decision to use wheat bread was decided during a DSC meeting, white buns are used during specials where the recipe calls for white bread. There are beans available at the salad bar and other locations, please feel free to bring them over to the wok and we will grill them for you.
 - I love the days where there are white buns at the grill! It would be great if that could be an option every day!
 - We use white buns only when the recipe calls for white buns which is usually with a specialty item.
 - I really like when you guys have bread sticks at Quimby's
 - We will try to include breadsticks more often at Quimby's. There are breadsticks every day at Ceva Pizza.
 - Where is the Boston cream pie?
 - Boston cream pie is available at the Lion's Den. We will look to incorporate them into our cycle at Eickhoff.
 - serve hash browns every day
 - We try to rotate the style of potato served daily, however they are available every day at the Lion's Den.
 - We need frosted flakes again please
 - There should be almond milk offered as an alternative to milk. I understand that it is hard to find almond milk in bulk, but I have seen at other schools that they have a small fridge filled with cartons of almond milk. I understand that there is soy milk offered, but I am unable to drink that, and I know of other people who are too. Thank you for considering my suggestion.
 - This is a great suggestion, at the moment we cannot get almond milk in bulk, however we will look into stocking almond milk in the c-store.

- I am a vegan who maintains eating clean as well as low carb. Also staying clear of fried foods. I notice that there aren't as many options provided besides salad and a plain steamed vegetable. Also, on Oct. 31st there was Kale offered, however it was made with bacon. Which defeats the nutritional value in kale and gives it a flood of bacon grease cooked in which isn't healthy. I couldn't eat what I would have liked because there was bacon in it and there could have been a pan made without it at least. Eickhoff also needs to be mindful of healthy options and in using too much grease in foods.
 - We spoke with our chef and there are a few other kale recipes which do not include bacon, we will be going to incorporate those recipes into Eickhoff.
- I was wondering if we could have more chicken dumplings at the wokery? They're super delicious and I would eat them every day if I could, but I haven't seen them much at all this year. Thanks and we really appreciate all the hard work you do.
 - Unfortunately chicken dumplings are a non-compliant item with Sodexo. However, we will look into other options similar to chicken dumplings.
- Arugula, grapes and strawberries.
 - We will look into bringing these items into the C-store and integrating them into recipes in Eickhoff.
- Clean out soda/milk machines, there are many fruit flies.
 - We have reached out to Ecolab to make sure we have the proper cleaning supplies during fruit fly season.
