Northwestern Dining

WHAT’S NEW IN 2017-2018

LOCAL PURCHASING
Purchasing locally grown produce is part of Northwestern Dining’s commitment to sustainability. Purchasing locally not only ensures fresh, great-tasting, and nutritious food, it also supports the local communities, including local farmers and artisan producers.

REAL FOOD COMMITMENT
Northwestern Dining is working with Real Food at NU (MURF) to reach our goal of 20 percent Real Food by 2020, as outlined in the Real Food Challenge Commitment signed by President Schapiro in 2015. Real Food is defined as food that is produced locally and through systems that are fair, ecologically sound, and humane.

FOOD RECOVERY VERIFIED
All of our dining halls are Food Recovery Verified by the Food Recovery Network. Campus Kitchens at Northwestern University collects more than 4,000 pounds of food from Northwestern Dining every year that would otherwise be thrown away.
