FAQs

Where do I buy my container?

You can purchase a Choose to Reuse container at any cashier station in Suwannee Room or Seminole Café.

How much does a container cost?

Each container has a one-time, non-refundable fee of $5.00 plus tax.

Do I still have to pay for my meal when I use my container?

Yes. You will pay for your meal as you normally would using a meal swipe, FlexBucks, GarnetBucks, FSUCash, cash or a credit/debit card.

Where do I return my container?

You can return containers to any cashier station in Suwannee Room or Seminole Café.

What if I return my dirty container but am not taking food to go?

We will give you a carabiner to hold on to until your next visit. At that time, you will trade in your carabiner for a new container.

Can I skip the fee and bring my own reusable container?

No. Due to health codes, only our approved Choose to Reuse containers are allowed to be used in our dining destinations.

Do I have to wash my container before returning it?

No, we simply ask that you empty and rinse the container before returning it. We will wash, sanitize and inspect all containers before reuse.

Is the container microwave safe?

Yes.

What happens if I lose or break my container?

Lost or damaged containers can be replaced for $5.00 plus tax.

Is this program only for students?

No. We invite all students, faculty, staff and visitors to join in on our sustainability efforts.
